

PEAK WORKPLACE SAMPLE CURRICULUM TIMELINE This chart shows total time required for Peak Workplace. These times are typical, and your results may vary. Activities are best completed online to give the student a chance to learn research online and the use of online resources. If computer access is limited, up to 95% of the Activities can be completed offline.

Peak Workplace is a curriculum and a toolkit. It is intended to guide students through the actual process of finding a real job. However, it will also work very well as a stand-alone curriculum, even if the student is not in the job market. Pikes Peak Learning strongly encourages you to provide each student with permanent ownership of their login password, so that they can continue to use Peak Workplace whenever they need to find employment.

The actual time required by students may depend on a) if they are actually in the midst of a job search, and b) how long that search takes. Therefore, the times below are MINIMUM times.

To do lessons offline, contact Pikes Peak Learning about getting a set of printable handouts, worksheets, and resources. In the table below, "Offline" refers to those Activities available as printed handouts. These provide students specific instructions related to the Activities below and encourage them to use the library, newspaper, telephone, the mall, or the Internet as needed. Optionally, they can transfer their answers to the online Activities.
